

Your Mob Learning: Making a Difference at the Grassroots Level

YOUR MOB
Enable Culture | Facilitate Reconciliation

YOUR MOB LEARNING has the mission to change the future of Australia, by eliminating the gap that exists between Indigenous Australians and the wider Australian community.

YOUR MOB has been around for the most part of 10 years, with the goal to innovate in the Indigenous space while making a real tangible difference. Starting from humble beginnings in a local residential house in Brisbane, the YOUR MOB vision started to unfold.

“The YOUR MOB LEARNING courses have always been the first step in getting an organisation’s cultural competency journey going. In our experience, understanding what you don’t know...goes a long way when trying to successfully engage Indigenous Australians.”

At first it started with Indigenous consulting, training Indigenous individuals, then training and instructing organisations. While this growth was happening on the outside, internally the organisation grew its technological capabilities so it could have greater reach to good-willed searching clients and learners.

From there, YOUR MOB has expanded to YOUR MOB JOBS services, YOUR MOB CULTURAL SERVICES, Indigenous Leadership Programs and YOUR MOB RESIDENTIAL CARE SERVICES. As time has gone on, the focus has been more about changing the status quo for the lives of marginalised Indigenous individuals.

The YOUR MOB LEARNING courses have always been the first step in getting an organisation’s cultural competency journey going. In our experience, understanding what you don’t know, and how serious the issues are in Indigenous Australia, goes a long way when trying to successfully engage Indigenous Australians.

Working in the legal space, cultural training to develop cultural awareness has huge benefits for legal practitioners, especially when it involves marginalised Indigenous individuals, because the Indigenous space is so complex. Having a good understanding of this complexity, we educate and facilitate with the intent to create trust and cultural safety with the organisations we work with. ■

Jermaine Alberts is a proud Aboriginal man from Central Queensland who grew up in both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander homes and cultures. Growing up with an Indigenous background fuelled his passion to make a difference at the grassroots level. He is the founder of the YOUR MOB Family and has started other successful Indigenous and non-Indigenous ventures.*

He has been lucky to work across many sectors within the Indigenous space. They have included: government, corporate, human services, training and education. His roles have included Youth Worker, Indigenous Support Officer, Facilitator, Indigenous Consultant, Human Resource Advisor, Indigenous Leadership Coach and Business Executive.

According to him, his greatest joy comes from life at home. Married to his sweetheart wife, the mother of his five children. He loves watching the footy, serving in the community and going to church with his family on the weekends.
